

One of the largest residential developments in Westchester County in recent years got under way on January 13 as ground was broken for the first phase of The Club at Briarcliff Manor, a new $350 million senior housing community in the Village of Briarcliff Manor. Among those attending the ground-breaking ceremony were, from left, Charles Winter, president of Andron Construction Corp.; Briarcliff Manor Village Trustee Lori Sullivan; Briarcliff Manor Village Mayor William Vescio; Matthew Phillips, founder and CEO, Integrated Development Group, the developer; John Sullivan, president of Sullivan Architecture and Richard Rosen, principal, Perkins Eastman Architects. The Club will feature 325 independent living residences and a 60-unit Supportive Living Center providing assisted living, memory support and skilled nursing care.
